THE BAPTISM OF THE LORD (A) - Mass Book Pg 118

(Isaiah 42:1-4,6-7, Acts 10:34-38, Matthew 3:13-17)

Throughout the year I have the joy of welcoming new members of the body of Christ through the waters of baptism, and I will be doing so this weekend. Baptism is the beginning of our Christian journey, our life in Christ. We are made sons and daughters of God by adoption, filled with the Holy Spirit and restored to the communion with God that is our rightful inheritance, lost in the garden of Eden but not forever.

Baptism, at whatever age it is received - and we look forward to celebrating adult baptisms at Easter - is a new beginning. Today, we bring the season of Christmas to an end by celebrating the feast of Our Lord's baptism, not as a tiny baby but as an adult, at the beginning of his public ministry.

Jesus is baptised in the river Jordan by his cousin John, who has proclaimed a baptism of repentance. Jesus is without sin, but we see him fully identifying with humanity estranged from God in order to heal the damage of sin. Jesus is the Son of God, utterly one with the Father and the Holy Spirit, and the unity of the blessed Trinity is revealed in the voice from heaven and the spirit's descent in the form of a dove. Jesus is not changed by his baptism, but he establishes baptism as the means by which we are changed, reborn to a new life of grace. Fittingly at the end of the Christmas season we are reminded once more of the great exchange, the divine one becoming human so that we can share his divinity. And we also see another dimension of the 'epiphany' or revelation of the Son of God, as with the Magi's gifts manifesting not only the identity of our saviour but also the mission that he is embarked upon, to be accomplished at Easter.

Today, let us give thanks for the gift of our baptism, and remember the great dignity bestowed upon us, clothed with Christ, and sharing his triple anointing as priest, prophet and king. May we strive more fully in the year ahead to live out our baptismal calling by participating fully in the worship of his church, by bearing witness to the truth, and ordering all things to his glory.

The beginning of a new year is often seen as an opportunity for a fresh start. The new start of baptism is only possible once, and yet we who know life is about constant conversion also know that we can have a new start as often as we turn back to the Lord and receive a new outpouring of divine mercy in the sacrament of reconciliation. The Lord who shared our fallen humanity without sinning himself never tires of forgiving us, for that is why he came.

God bless, Fr Matthew

EPIPHANY CHALK: You are invited to take a piece of blessed chalk from the dish by the crib and use it to invoke God's blessing on your home. The chalk is used to inscribe the initials of the Magi, the numerals of the year and the cross of Christ above the door. Further instructions are provided alongside the chalk.

CRIB COLLECTION: You are encouraged to visit the crib throughout the extended Christmas period ending on the feast of Candlemas. Please pray for and support the work of Brentwood Catholic Children's Society as you visit the crib (cash or QR code by the crib, or use the donation screens in the porch).

RIP: Please pray for the repose of the souls of James Engledow, Kathleen Leek and Fr John Haynes former Parish Priest of St Mary's in Hornchurch who died this week. James's funeral Mass will be on Thursday 15th at 10.30am and the Requiem Mass for John Parker will be on Friday 16th at 11am. May they all rest in the eternal peace of Christ.

CHILDREN'S LITURGY: We are pausing children's liturgy whilst we take stock and establish what is a sustainable pattern given the volunteers we have. If anyone would like to join the team, please get in touch with the parish office. A parish DBS will be required.

CWL: The Wednesday lunch club reopens on Wednesday 14th January at 12pm. It will be lovely to welcome back our old friends and always good to welcome new ones.

ST JOSEPH'S KNITTING AND CRAFT GROUP: meetings resume on Monday 12th January. New members welcome to help support the numerous charities we are involved with. For further information contact Yvonne Dickens on 01708-228087.
